2012 DEMENTIA SYMPOSIUM with Teepa Snow

9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. - Feb. 24, 2012 - Rogue Valley Manor, Medford

8:30-9:00 Registration/Check-in

9:00-Noon Understanding Symptoms and Behaviors and Communicating Effectively for Success

This session will help you develop better interaction skills when working with people with dementia. It will emphasize the value of empathetic communication in combination with redirection and distraction. This approach is used to cope with distress and promote the use of “go with the flow” and improved non-verbal strategies to enhance client understanding and responses. The goal of the session is to reduce or minimize unproductive conversations and resistive behaviors by using effective verbal and non-verbal techniques. A review of common symptoms and behaviors will also be included to enhance your understanding of why the person with dementia exhibits certain behaviors.

Noon-1:00 Lunch (included)

1:00-4:00 New Strategies and Practical Techniques to Provide Care through the Dementia Journey: How to Modify Support, Care and Environments

This session is designed to provide learners with a more in depth understanding of the progression of dementia and behaviors that affect caregiving and daily programming throughout the disease. The session will use the concept of gemstones to help caregivers appreciate the value and uniqueness of each stage in progression of the condition. The session will emphasize the need to use observational skills, hands-on skills, self-awareness and environmental supports and modifications to optimize care for the person with dementia.

Learners will gain knowledge about environmental factors that affect behavior and responses as the condition changes, and how to use this information to create environmental supports that positively influence outcomes and interactions. The session will be very interactive, with the goal of providing knowledge, skills and attitudes that will change daily outcomes of care.

About Teepa Snow:

Teepa Snow, MDS OTR/L, FAOTA, is one of the most exciting and highly sought-after dementia consultants and trainers in the country.
